

Toyota Opens New Engine Plant in Porto Feliz, São Paulo

May 10, 2016

Image not found or type unknown

São Paulo, May 10, 2016 — Today, Toyota do Brasil LTDA (TDB) officially opens its new engine manufacturing facility in the city of Porto Feliz. Built on a plot of land that covers an area of 872,500 m² (9.39 million sq. ft.), the new facility represents an investment of 18 billion JPY (conversion to 580 million Brazilian R$ or 170 million USD) and approximately 320 direct jobs in the region. With this new manufacturing operation, Toyota reinforces its commitment to the Brazilian economy and increases its support for Latin America and the Caribbean region as a whole. In this, the company remains steadfast to a corporate mission of the betterment of society.

For more details, go to: <http://newsroom.toyota.co.jp/en/detail/mail/12019023>