

Kevin P. Voelkel

Kevin Voelkel is senior vice president, vehicle plants, for Toyota Motor North America (TMNA). TMNA supports Toyota's engineering and manufacturing operations in North America. In his current role, Voelkel is responsible for six of Toyota's vehicle assembly plants, as well as TABC, all North American Truck Manufacturing and Toyota's battery manufacturing plant in North Carolina.

Prior to his current role, Voelkel served as the group vice president of North American Truck Manufacturing at TMNA as well as president of Toyota Motor Manufacturing, Texas (TMMTX) based in San Antonio, Texas.

Previously, Voelkel's roles within the organization have included project general manager, environmental director and general manager of administration at TMMTX before taking assignment with TMNA in 2015 in Plano, Texas where he held dual positions as the vice president of One Toyota Competitiveness, and the group manager of Production Strategy for TMNA.

Voelkel earned his bachelor's degree from St. Edwards University in Austin, Texas.